

Prior to the regularly scheduled meeting, Sandra Leininger and commissioners Carmichael, Brokaw, Blazek, Reynolds, and Sargent met at the Southwest Valley Activity Center parking lot at 9am for an orientation of the Iowa History Mobile Museum. The driver (John Carlson) instructed commissioners on the opening and closing procedures of the exhibit. A photograph was taken of Sandra with the commissioners putting the "Corning" sticker on the map of Iowa located on the outside of the museum.

At 10:36am, Sandra Leininger called the regular meeting to order at the Lauvstad Center. Joan Haley joined this meeting with the other commissioners. Absent were Marti Gebbie and Beth Waddle.

Haley moved and Carmichael seconded the approval of the agenda. All Ayes.

Carmichael moved and Reynolds seconded the approval of the March minutes. All Ayes.

Sandra handed out a schedule for the Mobile Museum and asked commissioners to sign up to volunteer. The schedule included a list of student classes and the time they would visit the museum. Anthony Donahoo (SW Valley High School Principal) collaborated with Sandra to provide this information.

The bids for the Ground Penetrating Radar Survey of Adam's County Pioneer Cemeteries were submitted. On April 25th, Sandra notified commissioners that Tallgrass Archeology, Iowa City (Leah Rogers) was the only proposal received by the deadline. A conference call is planned with the state to get final approval of the design.

Nancy continues to work with Joe Jordan (Lenox) about the Queen City Monument Project. Nancy has also been organizing the Queen City Book.

Nancy reported that the public meeting video is finished with plans for commissioners to watch it together and review it.

Jim will provide Iowa's 175th pop-up display to be used in the Lauvstad window display for preservation month.

Sandra, Nancy, and Jon plan to attend the annual Iowa Preservation Summit, June 2-4 in Mason City.

Sandra gave a CLG quarterly report to the Board of Supervisors including news about the Iowa History Mobile Museum. Nancy and Jim also gave a quarterly report to the Corning City Council.

In other business, Nancy will contact the Prescott City Council and provide commissioners an update about their plans for restoration of buildings in town.

Meeting adjourned at 11:10am

Respectfully submitted: Jon Brokaw, Secretary
